To supply knowledge upon these points and others pertaining to the purity of water supplies, the Experiment Station of the State Board of Health of Massachusetts was established at Lawrence in 1887. Some of the more important general results of the six years of careful investigation will now be presented. A general description of the Station and the methods of investigation carried on there, together with the earlier results obtained, may be found in the published report on water supply and sewerage, entitled, Experimental Investigations by the State Board of Health of Massachusetts upon the Purification of Sewage by Filtration and by Chemical Precipitation, and upon the Intermittent Filtration of Water. Made at Lawrence, Mass., 1888-90. Additional results may be found in the more recent Annual Reports of the State Board of Health of Massachusetts. A model of the Experiment Station, and samples of some of the sands used there, together with diagrams of some of the earlier results and samples of the sewage and of the effluents, may be seen in the south-eastern portion of the floor of the Anthropological Building, which is at the south-eastern extremity of the Fair Grounds. Some idea of the extent of the laboratory work in the Department of Filtration may be conveyed by the following statistics. There have been analyzed chemically: 1 700 samples of sewage applied to filters, 6 400 samples of effluent from filtered sewage, 400 samples of water applied to...
